PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Preservation Projects

The USHRAB seeks proposals for the processing and preservation of historical records in Utah. These grants are intended for short-term projects. Digitization projects are eligible as preservation projects so long as the goal is to preserve records that are in fragile condition. The original records must be retained and maintained. Digital versions must be openly available to the public and a finding aid or index for the digital versions needs to be available online. Digital versions must adhere to the metadata standards on the Mountain West Digital Library. Historical records preservation projects for which funds can be applied include, but are not limited to:

- Processing or organizing historical records
- Purchasing archival supplies such as folders and boxes to house historical records
- Preservation of electronically born collections, such as digital photographs
- Purchasing emergency supplies such as plastic sheeting, fire extinguishers, smoke alarms, and security locks
- Restoration or preservation of damaged records

Access Projects

The USHRAB seeks proposals promoting access to historical records. Eligible projects might include creating EAD finding aids. Digitization projects are eligible as access projects if they make use of existing holdings of locally or regionally significant historical record collections. The materials should already be processed so that projects can re-use existing information to serve as metadata for the digitized collection. The original materials must be retained and maintained. Digital versions must be openly available to the public and a finding aid or index for the digital versions needs to be available online. Digital versions must adhere to the metadata standards of the Mountain West Digital Library.

For grant proposals that include digitization see the USHRAB Digitization Policy.

USHRAB grant funds may not be used for

- The processing, exhibition, or display of artifact collections, including the purchase of display cases
- Projects focusing on collections or materials that are not available for research
- Projects focusing on collections or materials that are the responsibility of an agency of the federal government

AWARD INFORMATION

Grants of up to $1,500 will be awarded.

The application deadline is Friday, August 22.

Grants fund one-time projects and are evaluated on how the project directly affects the program of the repository. The project must provide results that are measurable and are related to the preservation and accessibility of the historical records within the collection. Collections must be made available to the public at the completion of the project during regularly scheduled hours or by appointment. Any materials produced as part of the grant must give credit to the National Historical Publications and Records Commission (NHPRC), the Utah State Archives, and the USHRAB.

Grants are selected on a competitive basis by the USHRAB. Hand written applications will not be accepted. Grant award winners will be notified within 30 days after the final application deadline and grants will begin when contracts have been executed, but no sooner than October 31, 2014. All grants must contain a public access component, such as creating an on-line finding aid or hosting a public presentation or open house.

All grants require a one-to-one in kind and/or cash match. Matching funds must be directly and demonstrably related to the grant and occur during the grant period. Cash expenditures may be for any direct purchase of equipment or consumable supplies used in the project or program.

Please add pertinent background information that will help us judge your ability to carry out the purposes of your grant. Applicants should describe the preservation steps to be taken, provide a specific estimate of the costs, and identify which records are involved and why they are valuable.

Successful applicants will sign a contract with terms to be negotiated by the grants staff and the applicant. As part of the grant contract, grant recipients will be required to complete a pocket emergency response plan. The pocket emergency response plan is a concise document for recording essential information needed by staff in case of an emergency. Templates will be provided for this pocket plan. All contracts require compliance with state fiscal and reporting standards.
